FRIDAY, JAN. 1, 1897.

OUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS.

Now that another year has gone and a new one is just being ushered in, the time is appropriate for reminiscences of the past, and forming good resolutions for the future.

THE BEAVER now again desires to thank its many friends and readers for past favors and support. Ever since its establishment here in 1871 it has made its regular weekly visits, never missing a single issue to many households. We have scores and scores of true friends who have never missed a single year without coming promptly and loyally to their annual subscription, without even a moment's delay, or a hint. Happily we have always given most kindly words of encouragement, too, such as every paper greatly appreciates, and have very considerably supplied us with such items of news as have greatly aided us in making our paper of real interest and value. To all such we desire now to tender our most hearty and sincere thanks, and at the same time to solicit a continuance of all such kindly favors.

THE BEAVER has also made its good resolutions for the new year, and its friends may depend on it that they will be fully carried out to the full extent of our ability. First we intend to much enlarge and improve the paper, supplying an eight-page sheet, instead of four pages, as heretofore, and supplying every week eight solid columns of news. BEAVER also more reading and other matter than ever before. At a very large expense, a new and much larger power press has been procured, and a new office has been fitted up, with greatly increased facilities, both for newspaper and job printing work. THE BEAVER's firm resolve is to make this new year the best it ever knew. Our ambition is to supply a paper second to none of the local country journals in all this Province, giving the fullest county news, council reports, court proceedings, and all such information as every intelligent resident should know.

Through these additions and improvements will involve a very large additional expense, it is not our intention to make any additional charges. Our subscription and advertising rates have been placed at the lowest living margin, but we intend to keep them low, trusting that the additional encouragement of our friends and patrons will warrant the additional outlay.

To one and all THE BEAVER wishes a "Happy and Prosperous New Year."

Hundreds of former residents of this Town and County, now residing in Manitoba, the North West, or in the States are constantly writing us that the

This is all the council have and you now ask the question "how is this amount expended?" It is as follows:

100.00
Market, 78.00
Police, 30.00
Nurses, 30.00
Sundries, 375.00

Now wherein is there any extravagance? Mr. Layton asked for anyone to state one single item. This amount represents the whole of the 27 mills and next year there will be an additional expense not provided for in the appropriations. The repairs to the fire engine are one of these items and the rate of taxation goes up to meet them. Another misfortune is the destruction of the West Ward Academy by fire. The Board of Education elected a pool settlement with the insurance company and the rate of taxation goes up to meet them.
